

Programs for Older Adults

Many chronic conditions are preventable, treatable, or manageable. The Massachusetts Department of Public Health and the Executive Office of Elder Affairs help community-based organizations offer programs that give participants the tools to take charge of their health.

- My Life, My Health: Chronic Disease Self-Management Program
My Life, My Health is a series of 2 ½ hour workshops that take place once a week for six consecutive weeks. These sessions are for people with chronic health problems and those who care for people with chronic conditions. Participants find ways to deal with pain and fatigue, discover better nutrition and exercise choices, understand new treatment choices and learn better ways to talk with their doctor and family about their health.

- A Matter of Balance
Many older adults experience concerns about falling and restrict their activities. A Matter of Balance is designed to reduce the fear of falling and increase activity levels among older adults. The program includes eight two-hour classes.

- Healthy Eating for Successful Living in Older Adults
Healthy Eating is for older adults who want to learn more about nutrition and physical activity for improved health. This six-week program focuses on nutrition strategies for heart and bone health to help maintain or improve participants' wellness and independence and to prevent the development or progression of chronic disease.
